

Jean Elliot

From Pain to Purpose

Grief and Biblical Counseling

Online Counseling services are provided through Skype on a secured network to give families and individuals the privacy and respect that they deserve.

How to set up a counseling session? Go to our Facebook page and search for Jean Elliot Grief and Biblical Counseling. Next go to our sign up page and enter in the information to receive your Skype code and meet times for one of our counselors.

Want more information? Check out Jean Elliot Grief and Biblical Counseling on Facebook and like our page to stay tuned for tips on how to keep your child's memory alive in a healthy manner.

What does it do? Jean Elliot provides counseling for families and individuals that have lost a child through any event.

Where does it operate: Jean Elliot is operated online to reach anyone who needs healing from their grief.

Why does it do what it does? This business is formed by hearing parents, grandparents, and different people talk about their child and the need to heal and not just move on but have a purpose to live.

When does it do it: This is a 24/7 business to let anyone reach out for help.

How does it do it? Grief and biblical counseling are provided through licensed counselors, pastors, etc. There would be counseling sessions through individual, couple, and family types along with bible study to get people to find the way to learn how to overcome the hurt in a positive way and remember their children in a healthy manner and live the rest of their lives with a special purpose.

Core beliefs : Do not allow grief to separate yourself from your purpose in life, connect families who are grieving to bond and grow closer together, allow all individuals to remember their loved ones in a healthy manner. The mission statement is Healing hearts through prayer, biblical, and grief counseling to overcome their pain and have a new purpose in life.